DURKIN BELIEVED DROWNED IN CHICAGO

FIND CLOTHES, SUICIDE NOTE UPON BRIDGE

Police Suspect Hoax but Drag
Chicago River During
All the Night

SISTER IDENTIFIES COAT
Letter Tells of Love for Mother
and Sweetheart and Expresses Remorse

Chicago (AP)—Martin J. Durkin, automobile thief and slayer, may be drowned in the Chicago river, or he may have perpetrated a suicide hoax with bloodstained and shot-torn clothing and a farewell letter to his mother.

The handwriting and clothing found on the Michigan-blvd. bridge Thursday night were identified as his by his sister, Lucille. Coast guards dragged the river all night.

Despite the assertion that the writer was slowly dying of a bullet wound in the lung and was desperate because he had to hide in basements and fish food from ice boxes the police doubted the expressed intention to end it all in the river.

LETTER GENUINE
There was little doubt, though, but that the little and clothing were genuine. The blue overcoat and a gray suit coat, bearing a Kansas City firm's label, had shotgun tears through the left sleeve and dried blood on the linings. A dark dried cap was found beside the coats. All would fit a man of Durkin's build. Durkin was thought wounded when he escaped Oct. 23, from a police trap set in the flat of Lloyd Austin, who with Sergeant Harry Gray was killed in the ensuing pistol battle.

The letter containing 12 pages expressed regret for the slayings and told of the writer's love for the murderer's mother and for Mrs. Betty Werner, with whose small son, Jack, he had planned, "To start a new and clean life over."

REGRETS DEED
"It breaks my heart to do this thing but I know it's much better than getting killed by the police. They would kill me even before I got to trial," the letter said.

The writer said his arm had been broken by shotgun fire and that he had "a bullet" in his lung which made him think he was getting longed.

"Crime don't pay, I see, but too late," the letter concluded, expressing the writer's desire to "die in the lake rather than in a basement like a rat."

HOBOES CONVENTION KNOCKS LONG HOURS

Denver, Colo.—(AP)—A platform to which many tired businessmen might subscribe was adopted Thursday by the national convention of hoboers here. It calls for "more Mulligan, more Java, more hours of sleep an shorter hours of work."

The hoboers who are meeting here as an association named the International Brotherhood Welfare association, however, has refuted the idea that the "Knights of the Road" do not work.

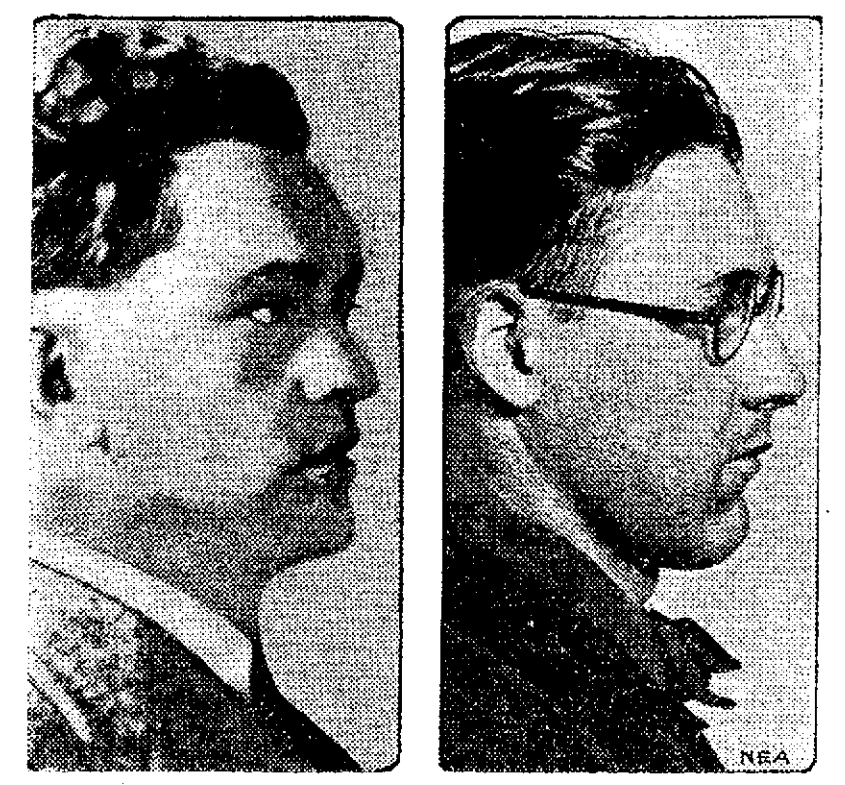

On the contrary, the president, "Dad" Schirmeyer of Cincinnati, declared the hoboers in their platform of less work were protesting against the "sun rise to sun set" working hours in the harvest fields.

APPROVE HIGH FREIGHT RATES ON REAL BOOZE

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Even legitimate whiskey shipments cause so much trouble and expense to railroads nowadays that the Interstate commerce commission held Friday that extra rates for its transportation are justifiable.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and other railroads which moved 43 carloads of whiskey to California during the 1923 and 1924 were held to have been right in collecting more than first class rates from the shippers. A. E. Green and Maurice Selig, Every car of whiskey has a special guard riding on it, the decision said, and extra guards are provided at all terminals and switching points.

DARING GUNMEN SOUGHT BY POLICE

These two men are being hunted throughout the country as two of the most desperate gunmen alive. Martin J. Durkin (right) shot his way out of a group of five policemen in Chicago, wounding two of them, when they tried to arrest him for murdering Edward Shanahan, a prohibition agent. Harry Harris (left) is believed to be the leader of a gang that held up a bank car in Buffalo, N. Y., killed two men and fled with $93,000.

U. S. Financiers Seeking Investments In Russia

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1925, by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—American capital is about to finance Russia. Irrespective of the question of recognition, the commercial possibilities of Russia are on the threshold of a big development. And even if Russia were recognized by the United States, the problem of American financing by an indirect method would be the same. In other words, operating in conjunction with British and German industrialists, the American financiers see a great chance in Russia.

For generations before the war British and German interests financed enterprises in Russia. An intimate knowledge of Russian methods and customs has thus been gained. Americans have always played a minor role. In fact until the enormous sums became available for investment abroad generally, the United States figured to a small extent in the actual ownership or management of business enterprises in Russia.

But the war turned the tide. American capital seeking good investment is plentiful. To finance directly would be difficult because the American government is unwilling to grant recognition at this time. Germany and Great Britain are in no such difficulties. Their nationals have the advantage also of a friendly and intimate relationship with the Russian government as well as the Russian people. But both Germany and Great Britain lack the money—the former, of course, being even more at a disadvantage than the British, because of the economic condition of Germany. The British have capital available but do not feel warranted in taking all the risk. So while American and British interests are ready to furnish capital on a 50-50 basis or even at varying proportions, the Germans are willing and anxious to provide management and supervision.

Dr. Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, who has been visiting Benjamin Strong, governor of the federal reserve bank, has publicly disclaimed that the object of his mission was to arrange industrial loans. Naturally he could not, as head of the Reichsbank, engage in such a position on behalf of private interests, but he can inquire into the possibilities so as to advise German industrialists on his return to Europe.

Dr. Schacht has found that the American government is not going to put obstacles in the way of American financing of Russia just because of diplomatic recognition difficulties. He has found that the departments of state, commerce and treasury which have been considering the problem, want American capitalists to be sure they can get their interest payments on any money they invest in Germany itself. This is being adjusted, however, by the establishment of gold credits in New York and other financial centers outside of Berlin.

White Plains, N. Y.—(AP)—A prolonged battle of fervid love letters seems likely in Leonard Kip Rhineland's annulment suit. Only 31 out of 416 missives written to the young aristocrat by the young negress he married have been introduced during Rhineland's two days on the stand. Mrs. Rhineland's attorneys say they have a trunkful of his letters with which to return fire.

Her letters are expected by her husband's attorneys to prove that she was the aggressor in their courtship. Her attorneys insist they can prove he was the aggressor and that he knew all along that she had negro blood.

The battlefield is a courtroom so crowded with white and black spectators that orders have been given to recess five minutes every hour in order to air the place.

The first communication from Rhineland to Alice Beatrice Jones was read was a telegram asking her to visit him in San Francisco in 1922. This was two years before their marriage.

ASKS EXTREME PENALTY FOR FORMER KLAN HEAD

Noblesville, Ind.—(AP)—Resuming the state's closing arguments in the trial of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry Friday, Charles E. Cox declared the men "are guilty of murder in the first degree and must pay the extreme penalty."

Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, and his bodyguards are charged with responsibility for the death of Maude Oberholzer, Indianapolis girl. Miss Oberholzer took poisoning following an alleged abduction and attack and died April 14.

JAPAN DEMANDS OF SUPPRESSION OF CHINA REBEL

Denounces Wu Pei Fu as Trouble Maker and Asks
Defense of Tientsin Railway

Peking.—(AP)—The Peking government issued a mandate Friday denouncing Marshall Wu Pei Fu as a rebel and creator of disturbances and ordering the "Christian general" Peng Yu Hsiang and the governor of Henan, Yueh Wei Chun, to suppress him.

The mandate declared General Sun Chuan Fang is making military preparations in violation of the peace principles of the chief executive, Tuan Chi Jui, and instructs Marshal Chang Tsolin, the Manchurian war lord to defend the Tientsin-Hukow railway. The mandate is apparently an attempt to reconcile Chang Tsolin and Peng Yu Hsiang, but meanwhile Peng's troops are evacuating their barracks in and around Peking and withdrawing toward Kalgan while Chang's troops are approaching Peking from three directions.

SEND DESTROYERS

Taylor.—(AP)—Two Japanese destroyers have been dispatched from the Sasebo naval base to Tsingtao, China, for the purpose of protecting Japanese nationals. Two additional ships are held in readiness if the situation in China demands them.

The foreign office Friday explained that considerable confusion was caused by great numbers of Chinese fleeing towards Tsingtao and outlying districts and the destroyers were sent merely for protective purposes.

No marines will be landed unless disturbances endanger the lives of Japanese, the foreign office spokesman said.

STATE STARTS PROBE IN M'ARTHUR ESTATE

Madison.—(AP)—The state Friday began an inquiry into the estate of Archibald McArthur, wealthy Dodgeville recluse whose death is being investigated privately by relatives. The state's investigation involves only the inheritance tax question and was launched by John Harrington, inheritance tax counsel of the tax commission, at the order of Governor Blaine.

Mr. Harrington has asked J. C. Pile, public administrator at Dodgeville, to obtain information on the estate, particularly whether Carl McArthur was a resident of Wisconsin or Florida, and the size and nature of the estate. The tax counsel said that newspaper reports that McArthur died in Florida, after living there two years indicated that it would be difficult to establish his residence in Wisconsin at the time of his death.

COURT SEEKS DATA ON BEGG'S ESTATE

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Parties on either side of a legal dispute over the collection of inheritance taxes from the estate of the late John I. Beggs, Milwaukee traction magnate, Friday obtained important concessions in a ruling made by County Judge John C. Karel. The decision was on an application by the state to require all persons having former business connections with the decedent to testify concerning their knowledge of the extent of the estate.

SIGN ITALIAN DEBT CAMPAIGN ON SATURDAY

Fix Payments to Last 62
Years, Interest to Start
After Sixth Year

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The American and Italian debt commissions Saturday will sign an agreement for the funding of Italy's war debt to the United States, calculated for the settlement at $2,042,000,000.

Terms for the funding arrangement agreed upon after 18 days of negotiation and accepted by the Italian commission as a "very generous" treatment of the problem, provide for the usual 62-year amortization period. In the formal announcement of the terms late Thursday, the American commission said it feels they "lay as heavy a burden on the Italian people as we are justified in imposing and represents Italy's capacity to pay."

Both the interest charges, which do not begin until the sixth year, and the annual payments on principal are fixed on a gradually increasing scale to meet the debtor nation's capacity to pay.

Beginning at one-eighth of 1 percent for the first 10 years of the interest period, the interest rate increases during the successive 10-year periods to a maximum of 2 per cent during the last seven years. With the settlement, if approved by congress and the Italian government, to date from June 15, for the first five years the annual payments would be approximately $5,000,000, scaling from $14,000,000 to $18,000,000 during the sixth to the fifteenth years, inclusive and thence increasing to a maximum $73,000,000 to $80,000,000 during the last seven years.

COURT ALLOWS TESTIMONY OF BLIMP WIDOW

Overrules Plea of Mitchell
Prosecution to Eject Mrs.
Lansdowne's Words

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The presentation in the Mitchell court-martial failed Friday in an effort to throw out of court the testimony given on Thursday by Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne.

After hearing arguments by opposing counsel the court overruled a prosecution objection that the evidence given by the widow of the Shenandoah's commander was irrelevant and incompetent.

Mrs. Lansdowne's testimony included the statement that Captain Paul Foley, judge advocate of the navy's Shenandoah court of inquiry sent her a memorandum in advance of her appearance before the board "falsely" describing her attitude, and the court Friday in secret session, ruled that it should be made a part of the record.

After the disposal of this question, J. Edward Cassidy, colonel in the chemical warfare service reserve, was called. Representative Frank R. Reid, defense counsel, read extracts from testimony given a congressional committee by Brigadier General Hugh A. Drum of the army general staff in which he said the general informed the committee that 3,430, 150 pounds of mustard gas would be required to materially affect a 60-square-mile area, or 9,573,550 pounds to cause evacuation of a similar area. "It that statement correct?" "It is absolutely inaccurate."

King Tut's Gold Coffin Largest Ever Excavated

London.—(AP)—The human-shaped coffin encasing the mummy of Tut-Ankh-Amen and the exquisite workmanship of the ornaments found inside the solid gold case have bewildered those persons who have been permitted to see them.

The coffin is described by a correspondent at Luxor as an amazing work of art, covered with intricate ornamentations and embossed and engraved figures of various districts. What the golden case's value is, has not been estimated but it is said to be the largest piece of precious metal ever uncovered by archeologists. Articles of personal ornament and toilet articles found in the coffin constitute a wonderful collection. It is thought that the ornaments were a part of the regalia of the young Pharaoh.

STOCK MARKET AGAIN HAS BELLOWING TONE

New York.—(AP)—Stock prices bounded upward Friday in another wild outburst of bullish enthusiasm engendered by the retention of the New York federal reserve bank 3 1/2 per cent discount rate, the Italian debt settlement and a series of favorable dividend developments after the close Thursday.

Enormous blocks of stocks changed hands in the early trading. The opening sale of American Safety Razor was a block of 10,300 shares at 7 1/4. United States Steel common opened with a block of 4,300 shares at the "spread opening" price of 135 to 134 1/2, against Thursday's closing price of 132 1/2. A string of 23 transactions in Maryland Oil, totaling 15,000 shares, appeared on the tape towards the end of the first hour, the stock attaining a new 1925 high record price at 58.

COLLEGE GIRLS ILL, HINT POISON CANDY

Columbus, O.—(AP)—Chemical analysis was to be made Friday in the state board of health laboratories of samples of candy eaten by nine Ohio State university girls and which is believed to have caused violent illness of all of them with near fatal results to four. All were recovering Friday.

The students became ill Wednesday night while attending a party given by one of their number, Miss Helen McDermott, of Stockport, Ohio, at the home of her sister.

No food or liquid had been served the girls, the only refreshment being a plate of fudge of which they all partook. The girls, however, said they tasted nothing out of the ordinary about the candy. As the girls had dined in different places the theory of ptomaine poisoning was precluded, and Fred Berry, chief of the health board laboratories, expressed doubt that the girls' illness has been caused by monoxide fumes from a gas stove. Berry expressed the belief that metallic poisoning was present.

WILL ASK FINES FOR MEN WHO STOLE BONDS

Burton.—(AP)—District Attorney Henry J. Bohn of Saukville indicated today he would ask that Delbert and William Bliss, brothers, be fined or freed outright of the charge of receiving and concealing stolen property, in connection with the finding of securities on the Balzer farm at Cassel Prairie, southeast of here.

The district attorney said he was convinced that the brothers knew nothing of importance regarding the unsolved slayings of William, Julius and Mary Balzer, who were beaten to death August 8, 1922. The Bliss brothers were arraigned late Thursday and their case was continued.

FEAR 60 FISHING BOATS WERE LOST IN STORM

Madras, British India.—(AP)—Sixty fishing boats from Ponnani, manned by 200 men, are missing and are feared to have been lost in the storm which has raged along the coast for the last few days. Three boats from Calcutta also have not reported.

The storm caused floods, impeding communications and damaged small coastal shipping.

STRONG EARTHQUAKE IS REPORTED AT MANILLA

CODE WORD FAILS TO WORK OUT IN SEANCES

New York.—(AP)—Some 250 spirit messages submitted in a test are alike in one respect: "They're all wrong" so Dr. J. Allen Gilbert of Portland, Ore., is keeping the $500 he offered for the naming of a code word he and his wife agreed upon before her death.

EYE PAINLEVE FINANCE PLAN AS SOCIALISTIC

Paris.—The revised financial plan of Premier Painleve which provides for a moratorium of short term bonds a capital levy and for the state to share in the profits of industry and commerce is considered in some quarters as a first step toward national socialization.

The revision was made by the premier at a meeting of the finance committee of the chamber of deputies when it was threatened that if the main points of the socialist program were not accepted the government coalition would be broken.

In acquiescing in the demand of the Socialists, the premier requested that the finance minister accept the revised measure so that it might be debated next Monday in the chamber.

ABSOLVE VETS HOSPITAL OF ABUSE CHARGE

Investigating Committee,
However, Says Institution
Is Sadly Overcrowded

Washington.—(AP)—A special investigating committee appointed recently by Director Frank T. Hines, of the Veterans' bureau has absolved St. Elizabeth's hospital for the issue of charges of maltreatment or improper care of veterans, although conceding that conditions there were not all that could be desired.

The committee in its report published Friday held that physicians were required to spend too much time doing clerical work; that the dental service clinic was housed in an "undesirable structure"; that the hospital was overcrowded with 550 patients for whom there were not proper accommodations; that having accommodations for only 3,500, the institution's "enrollment was 4,000 and that many patients were not receiving needed supplies because their guardians failed to cooperate," with hospital authorities in furnishing them.

It made no recommendation for relieving the overcrowding beyond urging that General Hines bring the matter to the attention of congress, nor did it suggest methods whereby the guardians might better cooperate with the authorities.

MENASHA ASKS COUNTY BOARD FOR BRIDGE AID

Oshkosh.—(AP)—A petition has been presented to the Winnebago county board at its present session asking for aid for the city of Menasha, in the building of a new bridge over the government canal at that city. It is estimated the work will cost nearly a quarter of a million and no state aid is to be had, as the bridge will be only 165 feet long, whereas a length of at least 300 feet is the minimum limit for state aid. The opening of the bridge, however, will have to be 100 feet in order to provide for navigation. Menasha is also to build a new bridge but is more fortunate, as state aid of $70,000 is provided, or one-half the total cost.

MERGED SINCE THURSDAY Rescue Ships Work All Night to Save Crew of Four Of- ficers and 64 Sailors

Plymouth, England.—(AP)—The submarine M-1 was located Friday on the sea 12 miles southeast of Start point, Devonshire. There is slight chance that members of crew of 68 are still alive.

The naval rescue ships are reported to have ascertained that the M-1 had not suffered from any collision and for this reason it is thought the men on board may be still alive.

If they are, experts say, they face a terrible lingering death as the boat is of too great a size and is in too deep water to permit raising her.

SEARCHED ALL DAY

London.—No trace had been discovered early Friday morning of the British Monitor submarine M-1 which submerged during maneuvers off Start point in the English channel Thursday morning and did not again come to the surface until her complement of four officers and 64 enlisted men.

Friday morning rescue boats with searchlights were dispatched to the waters where the submarine was last seen to look out for wreckage or other possible signs of the missing boat. They replaced the mine sweeper and hydrophone boats which were busy engaged in a similar task throughout Thursday but which were recalled late in the evening after their fruitless efforts in the heavy seas that were running.

The admiralty has not yet committed itself to a definite statement that the submarine is lost, but pessimism prevails over its last announcement that it was feared the craft has been lost with all hands, and by the fact that later it made public the names of the men on board.

At the admiralty it was said Friday morning that nothing could be added to the brief statement of Thursday that the M-1 had gone out with the submarine lotilla in a strong wind and boisterous seas and that there was nothing to suggest the element of danger in the vessel carrying out the prescribed tactical exercise.

MORE SAFETY, CITY'S PLEA FOR VIADUCT

Railroad Commission Told Why Appleton Wants Grade Separated

Through its city attorney, Alfred C. Rosser, Appleton Thursday afternoon set forth before the Wisconsin railroad commission at a hearing at the city hall its reasons for desiring that the Chicago and North Western traction, light and power company construct a viaduct at the grade crossing over E. Wisconsin-ave. The hearing was held before A. R. McDonald, of Kaukauna, member of the railroad commission.

The city contended: That the crossing now is exceedingly dangerous to pedestrians and occupants of vehicles.

That state trunk highway 15 probably will be routed over E. Wisconsin-ave if the viaduct is built, thereby eliminating the danger which traffic over highway 15 is exposed to because of the necessity of crossing several railroad tracks and following the street car tracks for about three miles through the city.

CALLS EXPENSIVE
Construction of the viaduct was opposed by the railroad company and traction company on the grounds that it would be too expensive an undertaking. They attempted to prove, through their attorneys, D. E. Bierman of Milwaukee and F. W. Grogan of this city, that the crossing was not dangerous, and that the city had no grounds upon which to suppose that highway 15 will be routed over that street.

Besides Attorney Rosser, the railroad company was represented by J. E. Rice of Green Bay, division superintendent; J. A. Tyler of Green Bay, division engineer; and W. J. Towne of Chicago, chief engineer of the traction company also was represented by its general manager, A. K. Ellis.

Henry Luettich, chairman of the town of Grand Haven, appearing in behalf of the township, was opposed to it because of the cost and because of the property damage which would result if the project were undertaken.

Those called to testify were: Harvey Schmitz, William L. Johnson, Robert M. Kennedy, W. H. Klyve, A. G. Brusewitz, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., W. J. Towne of Chicago, J. S. Rice of Green Bay and T. E. Guehl.

WOULD COST $87,219
Plans for the proposed viaduct at an estimated cost of $87,219 were presented by the city. This figure included excavation, concrete work, all track work, and construction of temporary structure for steam and electric road tracks while the main structure was being built. The permanent structure would be 21 feet wide between abutments, have two 16-foot roadways underneath with concrete abutments, in the center, and have a 14 foot clearance from the crown of the road to the under roof of the viaduct. The plans were prepared by City Engineer, Connelly who gave a detailed explanation of them.

Under questioning by Alfred C. Rosser, city attorney, Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, witness for the city, said he believed the grade crossing at E. Wisconsin-ave was dangerous because of the trees and buildings obstructing a view of the tracks on the side of the road, and that the tracks cross the street at a rather sharp angle.

He testified that he understood one of the reasons highway 15 was not routed over that way was because the crossing was considered exceedingly dangerous. Possibility that highway 15 would be routed so as to eliminate the necessity of crossing railroad tracks, and following the street car tracks in the city was admitted by Mr. Brusewitz, who said the present route, followed by highway 15 is dangerous, especially that section through the "flats."

WANT STREET PAVED
Mayor John Goodland, when placed on the stand, declared he had been assured by O. C. Rollman, division engineer of the state highway commission at Green Bay, that the state trunk highway 15 would be routed over Wisconsin-ave as soon as the danger now said to exist at the crossing was eliminated. The mayor also pointed out that people living along that street desired to have it paved, but that the city could not undertake this until the proposed viaduct was in, otherwise the pavement would not conform with the structure.

"The city has gone in at an expense of almost $100,000 in the past few years to offer a safe and safe place for traffic through the city and it seems to me as though the railroad should support plans, favoring the construction of the viaduct, instead of opposing it," said Mayor Goodland. "It is no secret that the present route of highway 15 through the 'flats' is dangerous, what with sharp turns, steep hills, necessity of crossing a number of railroad tracks and following the street car track through the city for about three miles. The proposed new route would bring traffic in from the south over St. Charles bridge, north on N. Richmond to Wisconsin-ave and then on an E. Wisconsin-ave and out of the city."

VALUES INCREASE
He also mentioned the increase in value which property in that part of the city would enjoy if the viaduct were constructed. This would give busses a new route which would avoid the car tracks, and with a first bus service with the business section of the city, the northeastern part of Appleton would expand rapidly, he explained.

W. J. Towne, witness for the railroad company, testified he did not consider the crossing particularly hazardous, as he could see no more elements of the danger there than at any other average grade crossing. If the proposed plan of the viaduct was

ST. ELIZABETH CLUB BAZAAR IS HUGE SUCCESS

Large crowds attended St. Elizabeth club bazaar Wednesday and Thursday at Columbia hall and it has been pronounced a great success by those who had charge. The proceeds of the bazaar will be turned over to the free hospital fund.

Fourteen tables of cards were in play Wednesday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. D. Smith and Mrs. Hoffman at bridge and by Mrs. W. Schultz and Mrs. Peter Brown at schafkopf.

A trio composed of Lester Balliet, Harold McGillan and Eugene Fountain gave a number of popular selections in the evening when a vaudeville program was presented under the direction of Miss Elizabeth (Glasheen) Plank. The Plank sisters gave the "Sawau-Hay" dance and a vocal solo, "Sometime" was presented by Harold McGillan, Lester Balliet and a troop of five girls, LaVita Closs, Claire Ryan, Kathleen McCabe, Eunice Bloomer and Louise Currie presented a dance and voice combination of "Don't Bring Lulu." "Yes Sir, That's My Baby" was given by the Plank Sisters and a duet, "Moonlight and Roses" was sung by Harold McGillan and Lester Balliet. The program closed with "Ukulele Lady" sung by a group of girls.

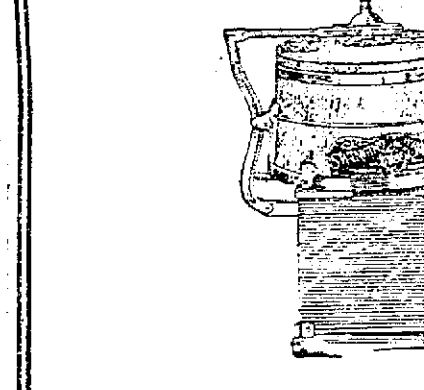

gone through with, he suggested that the railroad commission undoubtedly would not sanction its construction according to the plans submitted, which provided for concrete abutments in the center of the road, and pointed out that the added steel construction to replace the abutments would amount to from $4,000 to $5,000.

Two accidents have happened at the crossing since Dec. 1921, the testimony of Mr. Rice, division superintendent of the C. and N. W. road, indicated. In neither of the accidents was anyone killed or even injured, and both mishaps were due to stalling of the engines in the center of the track, according to Mr. Rice.

No accidents have happened there since 1921 on the traction company tracks, Mr. Ellis testified.

Attorneys for the railroad company and traction company, and the city of Appleton will file briefs on the case. Mr. Rosser was instructed to have his ready within the next 15 days.

Wisconsin Is Second In Improved Road Mileage

Wisconsin is the second state in the Union in the number of miles of improved state trunk highways, according to a report recently issued by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. The Badger state has 8,500 miles of surfaced state roads. New York is in first place with 9,280 miles of improved state highway, and Texas is third with a mileage of 7,227.

In the number of miles of surfaced county highways, Wisconsin ranks fifth among the states of the union, with 15,937 miles. Indiana is first with 16,112 miles Ohio second, with a county surfaced mileage of 27,841; Georgia third with 16,862 miles; and Minnesota fourth with 16,839 miles. New York is in sixth place with a mileage of 15,239.

The total rural mileage in Wisconsin is 78,964. In New York it is 81,873, so that the Badger state really has more mileage of state and county surfaced roads for its total road mileage than any other state in the union. In Illinois the rural mileage is 96,325 but there are only 3,417 miles of surfaced state road, and 19,756 miles of surfaced county roads.

In Iowa the amount of road improvement is even less for there is a rural mileage of 104,624, of which 2,667 miles is state surfaced, and 2,061 miles is county surfaced. Michigan has a rural mileage of 77,283, 5,871 of which are state surfaced and 15,126 miles county surfaced. Wyoming with 46,310 miles of rural road has the smallest amount of surfacing of any state in the union. Only 714 miles of state road is surfaced, and the state has but 15 miles of surfaced county highways.

These figures by the department of agriculture were reported by the states at the end of 1924. At that time nearly 500,000 miles of road throughout the country had been improved by some kind of surfacing. In addition to surfaced roads a considerable mileage has been graded and drained according to engineering standards. There were 236,294 miles of such road

NOT using Wadhams—just as long as ever you can get it—is off the same piece as telling the big chief that you and your family wouldn't know what to do with a few extra "iron men" per week.

Using poor cheapened fuel is telling your investment that you don't care what returns you get on it in easy starting and daily driving smoothness . . . that you're not interested in whether kerosene is dripping into your oil or not . . . that you're indifferent to repair bills or how soon your motor condition drives you to a trade-in—at a sacrifice.

Monday, Nov. 16, to formulate definite plans. In all probability an intensive drive will be made to raise at least $3,000 for care of the city's unfortunates. Last year $2,300 was collected for the purpose and most of the organizations were obliged to raise money in other ways to make up the deficit. This year an effort will be made to provide all the money the organizations need. Whether they will be personal solicitation or whether some other plan for collecting the money will be used is to be determined at the next meeting of the welfare council.

PROPOSE NEW DISTRICT PLAN FOR SCOUT WORK

Scope of Valley Council Would Be Widened Under Revised Control

Five districts for the supervision and administration of boy scout work would be created under the new extension plan in contemplation by P. O. Kelcher, executive of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America. The plan as outlined is part of a movement to spread this activity to every community in the United States, under proper control.

Ideas contained in the plan were worked out by Mr. Kelcher with the assistance of C. M. Finnell, Chicago regional executive, while he was in the city recently. The groupings of cities and villages was made largely from the standpoint of highways and the convenience of reaching them from the central point.

GROUP CITIES
Appleton district would include the city of Appleton and the villages of Kimberly, Little Chute, Black Creek and Seymour. Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha each would be a district by itself. New London district would include that city and the villages of Hortonville, Bear Creek and Shiocton. All of these places come logically under jurisdiction of the Appleton office because of location. Other centers of control would be located at Oshkosh, Green Bay, Waupaca and other larger cities.

It would require a budget of about $7,250 annually to administer scout activities in a sphere as large as this, Mr. Finnell estimated. This would be spread over an extensive population, however, and therefore would not prove a financial burden to any one place. Some proportional plan of raising the money would be devised, perhaps on the basis of population.

MORE EFFICIENT
Once the country is organized in this way, new boy scout troops would be recognized only if they were under the jurisdiction of a scout executive at some nearby point. The work therefore could be standardized and carried out fully according to scouting principles.

It is Mr. Kelcher's intention to visit each of these communities as soon as possible and enlist the cooperation and support of churches, schools and other organizations. If boy scout troops already exist they will be given the help of district committees. New ones will be organized where there are none, after the new rule of procedure has been followed—that of assuring proper leadership before the boys are summoned.

More than 1,000 boys probably will

RIVERS SOON MAY PURIFY SELVES SCIENTIST SAYS

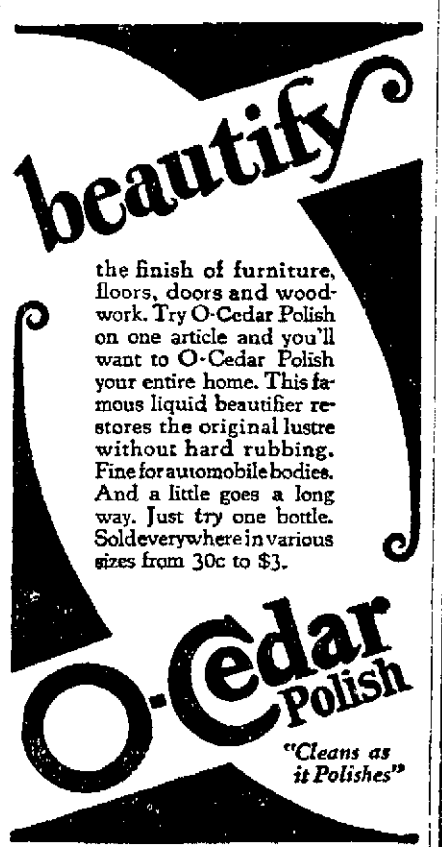

Madison—The day when vegetation of lakes and other larger bodies of water may yield vitamins and people may drink river water without fear of germs producing disease, may soon dawn. It was indicated today at the closing session of the National Academy of Sciences.

E. A. Birge, former president of the University of Wisconsin, told members of the academy of recent investigations made by him and by Dr. C. Juday, in the organic content of Wisconsin lake water including Lake Michigan, in which the field is being opened to a possible discovery of a new food supply for animal life in waters.

Frederic Jowley, scientist, Washington, D. C., in discussing the paper read by Dr. Birge, saw a possible vitamin supply in vegetation in water from the fact that it has been found that oil from cod contains a vitamin of one of the recognized classes. Other fish show traces of life aid directly traceable to vegetation found under the sea, he stated.

RIVERS TO BE PURE
That river water might some time be drunk with impunity was a forecast made by Philip B. Hadley of Michigan. This might come about, he said, when rivers are filtered by action of the rivers themselves rather than by artificial purification.

He under scout training in a few months if the plan meets with the acceptance of these communities.

COMPETITION FOR PANAMA CANAL
The growth of Panama Canal traffic
and the continued operation of the canal
in a loss, has served to call attention to the unfair advantage this waterway gives to far western producers over those of the mid-west. It is stated, for instance, that Wisconsin pea packers pay nearly 30 cents more per hundredweight for setting down their commodity in New York
by carload than the Pacific coast producers pay by using the Panama Canal
route. There has been considerable agitation that the canal rates be raised enough
to make the investment pay.
One of the remedies that is obviously
open to the central states is the authorization and completion of the St. Lawrence seaway, which will give the mid-west all-
water transportation to the Atlantic seaboard and to the markets of the world.
Immediately, Chicago sees in this logical
remedy an opening for pushing its propaganda for a lakes-to-the-gulf waterway,
the real purpose of which is to serve as a cloak for the appropriation of an excessive amount of water from Lake Michigan.
There is no real demand for a lakes-to-
the-gulf waterway at the present time. It is a hot-house proposition, confined to artificialities at Chicago. This project means principally the building of a canal from Chicago to the Mississippi. Between an outlet to world and American markets via
the St. Lawrence and via the Mississippi,
it requires no marshalling of facts to show
where the commercial interests of Chicago lie. As for the use of the Mississippi by the mid-west, it has that now, and as everyone knows, the river is not employed.
The reason is that the great bulk of commerce in this country moves east and west,
and that products of the central west have
a relatively small market in the south.
The building of the St. Lawrence seaway would give the entire mid-west and northwest a direct, economical and in every way adequate water connection with their natural markets. What the country needs first is this improvement. It is of so vastly greater importance than the Mississippi project that it should take precedence over the latter by a generation of time, so far as time is involved.

THREE GREAT PROBLEMS
Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, one of the outstanding figures who fought with Pershing in France, turned his attention to practical matters in his Armistice Day
speech in Chicago. He raised three questions, too long prohibition, the direct primary and what he called "post-war burdening." Three sentences will sum up what he said about each.
The first is that the people face the choice either "to enjoy the constitutional government handed down from the fathers," or to remain "among a wilderness of commissions and committees, semi-legislative and semi-judicial in character, but with all its outside the constitution."
The second is the statement that "the direct primary, while the principles of representative government and marking
the drift toward pure democracy which once established no government has ever
long survived, susceptible of corruption,
expensive and inefficient in the crop of officeholders it has produced, challenges
your decision as to its survival."
The third is the declaration that "the amendment of the Volstead act, far wider
in its application than was ever contemplated by the eighteenth amendment, its disregard of the constitutional provision against unreasonable searches and seizures
and the wholesale official corruption to which it has led, is an issue which patriotic Americans must face."
We will say that the general spoke a mouthful when he presented these indictments of recent years. It is a question whether the so-called reforms embodied

in these departures from the constitution
and the institutions which represented a hundred years of national growth under
that constitution, are not today a net
loss to the country over and above the evils they have corrected or pretended to correct. In other words, we have overdone our reforming to the point where it has become top-heavy, and its inherent weaknesses a liability rather than a blessing.

APPEAL TO PREJUDICE
The Chicago Tribune prints the names of the members of the World court, most of which are foreign to the American tongue and more or less difficult of pronunciation. It informs our "leaguists, legalists and optimists" that this is the tribunal before which "any case involving America" would come, adding, con-temptuously, "read the list out loud, if you can." No reputable statesman or jurist would be guilty of so cheap an appeal
to prejudice as this, neither would a self-respecting newspaper.
Needless to say, the character and capacity of the World court is not determined by the spelling or pronunciation of the names of its members. In this list is the name of John Bassett Moore, one of the greatest jurists America has ever produced. If we are to accept the word of men like Elihu Root, who helped to set up this court, and Charles E. Hughes,
the balance of the court is of the same
high character and ability as John Bassett Moore. Jurists of international fame, and these are the pick of the nations in the court, have a reputation for being the fairest minded and the most incorruptible
of any class of men in public life. This is the testimonial applied to the World
court by statesmen and others who know
something about the men who comprise it.

The Chicago Tribune in its editorial
makes no direct criticism of a single member of the court. It confines its indictment entirely to the "foreignness" of their names. It would be hard to conceive of greater moral or intellectual dishonesty
than this.
Again the Tribune says, "that body
might determine, for instance, the right of the United States to police the streets of Panama in the event of disturbances
getting out of local control, or the right
to land troops in Haiti to end government
by assassination."
If the United States engages to help support the court, as is proposed, it will do so without acceptance of the optional clause for compulsory jurisdiction and will not be required to submit a controversy to the court unless it desires to
and cannot be compelled to go into court to defend a case. Since the Monroe doctrine represents a fixed policy, not susceptible of interpretation by any other nation or court, it is needless to add that nothing involving our relations with South or Central America could or would go before this court, except at our own
instance, a privilege that is as freely open
to us now as it would be then.

Next, the Tribune applauds the Hague
tribunal because "the judges are chosen by the parties to the controversy," and
"can be selected with a view to their freedom from prejudice and national interest." The Tribune has here stated the very reason why the Hague tribunal has fallen into disuse and why the United States for the last twenty years, through its presidents and secretaries of state,
has been endeavoring to supplant arbitration with an international court of adjudication.
In arbitration the judges selected by each of the two contending nations are always prejudiced, in fact, they directly represent the parties. Only the third or odd members of the court are theoretically disinterested. One cannot conceive of arbitration being substituted for our courts and judges in this country. Organized labor can no longer be induced to accept arbitration in any dispute. When the Tribune says that a case going to the World court goes to a tribunal regardless of "the probable or apparent unfairness
of the tribunal to decide it without nationalist bias, traditional, inherited or otherwise," it raises the issue that is wholly gratuitous and dishonest, and that appeals solely to prejudice.
Every line, every inference, every argument, in the editorial which we have quoted is a libel on the intelligence and fair-mindedness of its readers. It is however characteristic of the general editorial
policy of the Tribune.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

HURRY UP, YOU'RE IN THE WRONG ERA
Misunderstandings, some ludicrous and some grave, frequently occur when laymen attempt to speak in doctor's lingo, and only a layman can appreciate the futility of most efforts on the part of the doctor to convey his ideas in plain English.
The layman's blunders in this direction afford as much amusement for the doctor as the doctor's windy explanations do for the layman.
In the presence of all and sundry medical or health writers who essay to explain things to the grand old public, I keep my kelly pulled firmly down upon my ears; at the same time I modestly
make no boast as to what might have happened
to all the sick cats people have considered me incompetent to attend, had people felt more confidence in my medical skill. The great Dr. Osler himself unquestionably had many superiors in the practice of medicine, though he was the foremost teacher of his time.
Nearly every morsel I offer is a translation from the medicalese into everyday parlance. Rarely, however, I get internal inspiration. This morning
as I lay in the borderland between slumber and waking, sniffing suspiciously for the aroma of coffee—when you get it you know the cook has ruined the coffee—and thinking how nice it is to be young and determined to avoid work—that's one thing Osler drew the line on, one learns in reading Cushing's Life of Sir William Osler, and I carefully avoided, according to Froide—in fact the list of great men all remind us we can make our own fairly easy—it is the first in 10 years of living
without labor that is hard—as I drifted aimlessly
among these idle thoughts it dawned upon me
from that birthplace of ideas, the subconscious,
that the public has never been properly apprised
of the fact that we are in a new era, and that consequently nearly everybody is still puttering along
in the old era, at considerable cost in health and money.
The new era is that of asepsis, the aseptic era.
The old era was that of antiseptics—the antiseptic
era.
Right here it will become obvious to the discerning reader, though I am not at all sure there is such a reader—that powerful interests in perfectly good eras are willing and prepared to spend the public's last dollar if necessary to keep the public
back in the antiseptic era, and it is more than my life as a teacher is worth to even indicate or identify these interests.
Several laymen have already heard that the antiseptic era of surgery is a thing of the past and that modern surgery is aseptic. I want everybody to know that the same advance has been made in sanitation and in household practice. If I can plant in your mind a suggestion which will not only forward your general well being but also save you good money, it won't matter much whether
I am a success or a failure with sick cats, you'll have to admit I am good teacher.
The great trouble with the technique of the house-
holder in the antiseptic era was that he or she placed far too much confidence in the power of the agent employed to chase the germs. The faith and credulity of the misinformed householder in that respect was childish. As a matter of fact no such agent thus far discovered will seriously disturb germ life in any infected tissue or organ of the human body, and the majority of the agents
which were popular in the old era did not greatly disturb even the germs which happen to be disrupting themselves on the surfaces or in the fluidities of the body.
This does not imply that germicidal agents are of value in surgery, sanitation or household practice. The first aid application of iodine or other germicidal agent to the fresh wound is still the best routine practice. All I hope to convey to the greatly misguided layman in this respect is the suggestion that it is practically always futile, if not actually harmful, to attempt to rout germs
with antiseptics, once the germs have invaded tissues; that is, it is foolish to imagine such agents
have any remedial value after infection has taken place.
Whether antiseptics are worth while in the prevention of infection or as prophylactics against disease, is a question to debate another time.

Those who donated memorial windows to the new Baptist church now under construction were
Mr. and Mrs. Priest, charter members of the congregation, Mr. and Mrs. Murch, also charter members, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Wagg, W. H. Rogers, Mr.
Boulognon and Nelson Klayher. It was expected that the church would be finished next month and that dedication would take place the early part of December.
Mrs. Henry Pindle, who had been ill for several days, died Thursday. She was survived by her widower and four children, Leona, Harold, Louisa and Margaret.
Miss Bertha Strong, teacher in the Second district school, was critically ill with brain fever.
J. H. Walsh, Third ward grocer, moved yesterday from Walnut st. to the building on College ave. formerly occupied by Richard Ryan.
The Fox River Valley Electrical Railway Co.
announced that no cars would be operated after 6
o'clock at night until further notice. The reason for this was the lack of sufficient power which was being obtained from the Riverside Fiber Co. mill
while the power plant recently ruined by fire was being rebuilt.
Officers elected by the Married Peoples club at the annual meeting at the city hall last night were:
President, Judge Goodland; secretary, Dr. Leith;
treasurer, John Goodland, Jr. The club expected to give half a dozen dances during the season.

Final reports of campaign workers who were endeavoring to raise $15,000 to remove the indebtedness on Armory G compared notes at a noon-
day meeting today and found that they had over-
subscribed the total and had $15,100.50 on hand.
The fund was swelled by a check of $500 received from John I. Beggs, president of the traction company.
The new American-LaFrance motortruck for
No. 1 company of the fire department arrived yesterday afternoon. The horsedrawn apparatus and the team were to be sold and station No. 1
apparatus would be completely motorized.
Miss Agnes Alessi, daughter of Mrs. Leo Alessi, Grand Chute, was in St. Elizabeth hospital with a fractured hip. A heavy gust during a wind-storm blew over a smokehouse while she was removing a carpet from a clothesline attached to the building. The debris struck the girl, broke the hip and bruised her severely.
Mr. Martin Bloesman, Northst, was confined to a fractured hip caused by a fall from a step-
ladder while cleaning home yesterday afternoon.
Miss Vera Williamson of Freedom, learned at the home of Patrick J. Carr, also of Freedom, at a ceremony at St. Nicholas church, Freedom, the previous Tuesday.

Important issues that have come

addition to numerous petitions for road improvement have been few.
Among them is a resolution adopted
which will be forwarded to all congressmen and two United States senators requesting that they fight any effort to repeal the federal highway aid legislation. A resolution in reference to the liability insurance that has been purchased by the highway department was introduced, in which the county would carry the risk. This was laid over for further consideration. For one minute at 11 o'clock
the board members stood up and faced the east in memory of the heroes of the late war.
Bids received from the various

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

asylum for the chronic insane at Weyauwega, as presented at the county board session here.
During the year $7,556.82 was expended for permanent improvements.
The principal item was installation of a new water system. The report explains this improvement as follows:
"In October, 1924, our water supply
about gave out and it became necessary to provide for a more adequate supply. This was accomplished by building two cement tanks, one 20 feet
in diameter and 6 feet deep around a fountain which was located about 2,000 feet east of the institution. The other was ten feet in diameter and ten feet deep. These tanks were connected with each other by a four inch pipe
which was laid six feet underground.
We have now a very complete and efficient water system which necessitated an expenditure of $2,418.77."
The financial statement showed the total cash earnings of the institution.
Cash disbursements were $40,727.53,
plus the amount paid for permanent improvements. This left a net gain of $13,743.53 over operation and maintenance. A sum of $3,577.61 was received from the sale of farm, farm and garden products over that which was consumed at the institution, the amount reported at $6,579.32.
On June 30 the population was 142
inmates of which 85 were men and 57
women.
Dr. E. H. Jones of Weyauwega, attending physician, states sanitary conditions are excellent. Little in the way of acute or preventable disease has occurred. Surgery has also been light. Nine deaths occurred during the year.
Superintendent D. C. Hayward and the matron, Mrs. D. C. Hayward, in charge of the institution, have rendered services satisfactory to the board, as is stated in the report.
Another feature, new in places of this kind is the installation of a radio
set which in this instance is wired so as it handles three loud speakers at the same time and can be connected
from seen parts of the buildings.
Motion pictures have for several years
been a part of the amusement features.
BURNS IS BEATEN
Wrestling fans thronged Waupaca
armory Wednesday night to see Jimmy Demetral win the first and third falls of a three fall bout during which he was forced to the limit to beat the wily Sailor Burns. Burns had the Massillon boy in the defensive and in a bad way in the deciding fall, and only a chance hold that Demetral fell into

is all that saved the Greek champion
from defeat.
The bout started in whirlwind style
and there was never a letup. Both men were in wonderful condition, and seemed to be out to end matters in the shortest time possible. Burns took the offensive for the first ten minutes, applying arm and leg holds in rapid succession, but Demetral evened matters
during the next fifteen minutes, forcing the milling, but Burns seemed to be able to break any hold that Jimmy applied. When the men had been going 35 minutes there seemed little to choose between them, until Demetral
started applying too holds that Burns could not stay out of. Demetral won the first fall with a too hold that he had held for nearly six minutes, the fall coming in 40 minutes and 30 seconds.
It was Burns' work in the next fall
that brought the crowd to its feet,
and kept it there. He secured a flying headlock on Jimmy almost as soon as the session opened, and taking advantage of his wonderful speed he kept applying one headlock after another until Demetral was so dazed that he was scarcely able to defend himself,
and the fall went to Burns in 15 minutes and 40 seconds. It took 11 head-locks to turn the trick, however.
Demetral came back strong in the final round, but was again being subjected to a series of headlocks when Burns missed one of his flying leaps,
and fell in such a position that Jimmy soon had him pinned with a body hold. The end came so suddenly that it was a surprise even to Jimmy's
most ardent supporters.
An effort is being made to get Graham,
the St. Paul light heavyweight here
for a match, with Jack Callahan
as his opponent. Callahan has been almost unbeatable for the past four years, and match of this kind would give the fans another thriller.

DISMISS CHARGE AGAINST CHAFEE

Judge Says Statutory Offense
Has Not Been Proved by Kenosha Girl

Kenosha. (AP)—Leo Chafee named in a statutory charge preferred by a Kenosha woman was ordered dismissed by Municipal Judge John Slater Thursday following a preliminary hearing in the case. The girl had given testimony positively identifying Chafee as the man who had attacked her on a lonely road on the night of May 20 after having ordered her escort to "beat it at the point of a gun."

Chafee himself denied the charge on the stand Thursday, and his wife corroborated his testimony. The two gave as an alibi the fact that on that night they went to visit Mrs. Chafee's sister-in-law who was expecting the birth of a child.

The judge ordered the case against Chafee dismissed when he declared that testimony in the case was so weak that "no trial court would submit the charge to a jury."

Chafee had originally been taken into custody from Iron Mountain, Mich., on suspicion for the murder of Madeline Latimer and James Sears.

200 EMPLOYED IN LICENSE BUREAU

Secretary of State Moves
Car Permit Department
into Larger Quarters

Madison. (AP)—Installation of the automobile division of the secretary of state's office in the new building leased for its use is virtually completed, and preparations are being made for the issuance of 1926 licenses. The registration work will become heavy within another month.

The last of the desks and filing equipment was removed from the capitol and the temporary quarters outside the capitol this week. The motor vehicle registration division now occupies a two-story building containing nearly 20,000 square feet of floor space. The building is equipped with time and labor saving devices.

The growth in automobile registrations made the leasing of separate quarters outside the capitol necessary, Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman said. The first registration law in Wisconsin went into effect in 1905 and 1,492 cars were registered in that year. Within three years the registration grew to such an extent that Secretary of State James A. Flear in his biennial report in 1908 said that "the motor vehicle department now occupies a large portion of the time of two clerks."

The registrations for 1925 will approximate 600,000. Mr. Zimmerman estimates, and nearly 200 persons are employed when the licensing work is at its peak.

To simplify the procedure of issuing licenses and titles of ownership, the latter under a new law, a new method will be tried for 1926. For several months clerks in the department have been copying applications for 1925 on new cards which will be mailed to the owners of the cars as indicated by the present records. By comparing and checking the applications now, while there is a lull in the registration business, they may be rushed through without further examination when

TWELVE CORNERS HALL THREATENED BY FIRE

What might have been a serious fire at Twelve Corners was averted Thursday morning when smoke was discovered issuing from the Valley Queen dance hall, and a slow burning fire was found. The flame was extinguished with a fire extinguisher when it was discovered by Emory Meltz, route 2, Greenville, after it had smoldered for several hours. The small blaze is thought to have been caused by a cigarette butt thrown on a pile of sawdust near the fire exit. There is a double thickness door at this exit, and the flames had burned through both doors, and were starting to penetrate the dance floor when discovered. Damage amounted to about $50. A dance was held at the Valley Queen Wednesday, and the hall was not closed until about 2 o'clock Thursday morning. The fire was discovered by Mr. Meltz at 6:30.

they are returned by the applicant with the fee for 1926.

Before the end of the year there will be mailed to the owner of each motor vehicle that was registered in 1925, at the address given in his last application, a complete application for 1926, a blank application for certificate of title, a coin card in which to enclose the fee of 25 cents for the title, and an addressed return envelope.

DEDICATE NEW ONEIDA INDIAN CHURCH SUNDAY

Edifice at Reservation Will Be Blessed by Bishop Rhode, Green Bay

Special to Post-Crescent Oneida—Sunday, Nov. 15, the new immaculate Conception church will be blessed at 10 o'clock by Bishop Paul P. Rhode of Green Bay, attended by Mr. J. J. Lochman, Kaukauna, and Mr. Van Hyster, De Pere, and a number of priests from various cities. This will be a red letter day for the parish, the Rev. A. A. Vissers, who started the church in 1910 when he induced the men of the congregation to dig and haul large flagstones out of the north end of Duck Creek about eight miles distant, for the footing of the foundation. A few years later the Rev. Fr. Kuegel of Little Chute, donated $1,000 in bonds. With this fund the foundation of the church was laid in 1921.

The building is 50 by 70 feet, fire-proof and of brick, with a basement hall and kitchen. The first floor is the church and the second schoolrooms which are not completed on account of lack of funds.

When Mr. P. J. Lochman was a priest at Freedom 35 years ago he came out and preached to the Indians under a large butternut tree which still stands near the new church. It was here he made his first converts among the Indians. In 1891 he dedicated the first church which was built under great hardships. The men working armed on account of the bitterness against the Catholics by the other churches. At one time the entire police force of five men came and ordered the men to stop working but the men showed their arms and ordered the police to take the road, which they did. The little church was completed. It soon became too small, although another church was built near the station five miles away from the parish, and the present church was started. Father Lochman will be one of the speakers.

Only one of the men who helped build the first church is living and J. W. Cornelius will have the honor of carrying the banner at the dedication.

which opens at the Fischers Appleton Theatre on Monday for a 3 day run, is known as a director who can take any type of story, and drain it to the utmost for its real entertainment value.

In "Hell's Highroad," he was given another opportunity to adjust himself to a new and different type of story. He was chosen by DeMille, as a seasoned veteran who has proven himself worthy of such an assignment, and the additional responsibility and honor of directing the first production for a great organization guided and supervised by a genius who has long since proven himself a peer in the industry.

"Hell's Highroad" is a series of unexpected and intricate situations. From the beginning, when Leatrice Joy, in the starring role, tells the man she loves that they cannot be married without money, there comes the unexpected situation. They neither kiss nor make up, nor do they part forever. The next instant almost, when Miss Joy is informed that she is an heiress, she rushes to her lover to tell him, but again the unexpected arises and they do not marry.

All these incidents pile one on the other with amazing sureness and speed.

FAIRBANKS FEATURE FILMED FROM NOVEL "Don Q, Son of Zorro," Douglas Fairbanks' new film-play for United Artists Corporation release and showing at the Elite theatre for the last time tonight, is a colorful adventure-romance set in a Spanish locale. It is built up from the novel, "Don Q's Love Story," by K. and Liesketch Frickard. The scenario was prepared by Jack Cunningham, and Donald Crisp is the director.

In this new offering, Fairbanks plays a dual role. In this instance he is seen as Zorro, the father, and Don Q, his son. The dashing Zorro, crown actor but still a sword-slashing demon, is replaced by his adventurous, romantic son who inherits all of the father's courage, wit and charm. Most of the story transpires in Andalusia, Spain. It is rich in melodramatic action and possesses all the beauty and passion for which the Latin races are noted.

"PEACOCK FEATHERS" One of the most famous supporting casts of any current motion picture release appears in "Peacock Feathers," a Universal-Jewel which is coming to the Elite theatre on Saturday and Sunday. Besides the leads, Jacqueline Logan and Cullen Landis, the players are George Fawcett, Ward Crane, Edwin J. Beady, Carolyn Lavin, Emmett King, Prince Yucca, Trumbetzkoy, Aggie Herling

CLINTONVILLE POWER RATE GETS STATE O. K.

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin railroad commission has approved the electric service rates proposed in a contract between the city of Clintonville and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company, but it declined to pass upon the legality of the agreement.

A dispute arose between the city and the Clintonville company, and the city entered into the contract with the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company. The new agreement was an infringement on its contract.

Important to Coffee Users

YOU probably have never taken the trouble to figure out how much of your annual income you pay for coffee. You do as everyone else does. You buy coffee as you need it. Just as you buy bread. You wouldn't think of buying a year's supply in advance. For the same reason that you wouldn't buy a year's supply of bread in advance.

Nevertheless, you do buy a whole year's supply of coffee every year. But because you buy a pound or so at a time, you've never thought to figure how much of your income it costs you.

One of the biggest factors in the size of your year's coffee bill is the NUMBER OF TIMES you have to buy coffee. And, of course, the number of times you have to buy depends altogether on HOW LONG every pound you buy LASTS.

That's simple. And even more simple than that is the fact that it's CUP COST—NOT POUND COST that really runs up your coffee bill. Paying less for a pound of coffee that yields only a few cups to the pound costs far more in the long run because you have to buy so many more pounds of such a coffee in order to get the number of cups your needs require.

Now, if you could obtain a coffee that actually gave you more cups in every pound than the coffee you now use, you wouldn't have to buy coffee as often as you buy it now, would you? And if on top of that you discovered that this "more cups to the pound" coffee brought you a richer, tastier flavor you'd get greater satisfaction out of every meal at which you served this coffee.

This is to tell you that there is a coffee of this high quality and economy available here today.

It is a coffee used now by almost two million people every day.

All we ask of you is this: If you like exceptionally good coffee—yet would like to economize on your coffee expense—try just one pound of Thomas J. Webb Coffee and be your own judge of its greater goodness and greater economy.

Your neighborhood dealer has it.

APPLETON'S SHARE OF COUNTY TAXES UNCHANGED

INCREASE IN RATE IS JUST, TOONEN SAYS

Appleton's Portion Should Have Been Raised Years Ago, Board Told

Appleton now is in good standing with respect to its membership in Outagamie-co for its dues for several odd years back are about to be paid up, amounting in all to approximately $60,000 that she neglected to meet at the proper time. At least that appears to be the outcome of a meeting of the equalization committee of the county board at the courthouse Thursday afternoon in which A. C. Rule, city assessor, and this city's supervisors went to the mat with the township forces in an effort to stop the addition of $14,000,000 to the Appleton assessment.

Two members of the committee refused to recommend submission of the tax levy to the county board for action. Seven others seemed willing to sign their names, although a few were deeply sympathetic at the apparent burden which Appleton would have to face this year. The two who did not sign were P. H. Ryan and L. F. Bushy, the only Appleton members on the committee and the ones whom the added taxes would hit. The others were mostly farmers who either received a cut in township assessments or a moderate increase which probably would make up for the home-stead exemptions taken off last year and replaced this year. The seven remaining members of the committee are George Kitchin, chairman, F. J. Schroeder, John Knapstein, Robert Carpenter, Alfred Mueller, John Nielsen and Bert McCann.

Farmer members of the committee were guided largely by the advice of Mr. Toonen as to any procedure which might be taken in response to Appleton's plea. He said he was satisfied that his figures were correct and saw no reason why they should be altered. At a loss to know just how the assessment might be pared and what the effect might be, the committee let the meeting draw to a close without any move to remedy the situation and the members began affixing their names to the report. Mr. Ryan said he would think the matter over for a day before deciding whether to sign and Mr. Bushy declared he could not believe an addition of $14,000,000 to Appleton's assessment was just and he therefore intends to withhold his signature entirely.

ONE YEAR BASIS
True valuation of the real estate and personal property of Outagamie-co was computed on a new basis this year, Mr. Toonen said in explaining the trend of the taxation. He said he was following instructions of the state tax commission which directed that the real estate sales for the year 1924 be used as the means of determining what property was worth. Heretofore, said Mr. Toonen, a five year average of sales was used. It was found that this plan caused hardship to the farmer, because the inflated lands values after the war period were included in this average and the assessments would be high at a time when farms were going steadily downward in prices. It was decided therefore to use a one year basis, so that any change in values would be reflected at once in the tax rolls instead of hobbling up perhaps.

It Is Folly To Take Pills
Cathartics do not stir the liver—try this new way

Modern research has revealed a vast mistake. We have always thought that cathartics stirred the liver, increased the production of bile. Now we have proved that they do not. They merely irritate the intestines. At the same time science finds a real way to stimulate the liver. It is a liver gland secretion taken from the ox. That does increase the bile supply up to a quart a day. Now it is folly to cling to the old ways. They are known to be wrong. The new ways bring quick and real results. Physicians are now prescribing it to millions. The results are now classed among the marvels of modern medicine.

Bile does more than clear the bowels. It is antiseptic, intended by nature to combat germs in the intestines. Without it, those germs breed by millions and feed poisons to the blood. There are countless people who suffer the ill results. To those people this new discovery is bringing priceless benefits. This liver secretion is embodied in tablets called Dioxol. Each tablet represents ten drops, purified and concentrated, with other important helps. Stop taking drugs which can't do what you need. See what Dioxol does. five years hence. He said Appleton had a large number of real estate sales during the last year at high prices and property therefore was construed to be worth much more than a few years ago.

Mr. Toonen further said that Appleton's real and personal property valued at $32,888,990 a year ago should have been higher. He submitted two valuations to the equalization committee and they chose the lower one because they did not want to saddle too much of a burden on the city. The amount was more than the previous year, however. The assessor declares now that he made a mistake in doing this because Appleton should have been given a value of over $40,000,000 last year. The figure he has fixed for this year for all real and personal property is $46,191,966. Appleton therefore pays 33.952 per cent of the state and county taxes as compared to 33.974 a year ago. The townships during this same period remained about equal or went down in some cases. Appleton really should have had an increase long before this, said Mr. Toonen.

An attack on the justice of the sales system was made by Mr. Rule in his arguments. He said he did not believe Mr. Toonen could have figured the assessments otherwise than his reports showed, because he is following instructions of the state tax commission. He intimated, however, that sales as the basis of value are not accepted in many counties and that committees reject the assessor's report and then equalize the taxes on the floor of the board meetings, setting the figures at what they think just. Appleton does not want to dodge taxes and is willing to pay what is just, said Mr. Rule, but he was positive an addition of $14,000,000 was far too much, especially when com-

Douglas Fairbanks as "Don Q. Son of Zorro," in his latest screen feature in which he steps out of the historic and imaginative character. "Don Q." had its New York premiere at the Globe Theatre, and will be generally released this fall through United Artists Corporation.—A.

pared to what the remainder of the county was assessed at this year. REPORTS TWO LATE
It was shown by the Appleton assessor that the county's tax levy is issued in the last minute. Appleton never can find out what it must pay until the board is in session and then it is too late to do anything about the matter. If the report were given out early enough, it could be analyzed and some understanding reached, he said. He did not blame Mr. Toonen, however, as he said the help is insufficient. Mr. Rule also said consultation by Mr. Toonen with the city assessor and an examination of Appleton's books before the rolls are made up would help to prevent inconsistencies.

Sales were not an equitable basis for the Appleton valuation this last year, according to Mr. Rule, because all the deals except four involved homes. Demand for homes in Appleton is brisk and people are paying prices out of proportion to the cost in order to obtain a place to live, he said. Builders of homes also are reaping big profits when they sell. It is these deals that become the basis of all property values, even though there are any number of the older types of homes that never could bring such figures. Mr. Rule said he recently testified on the witness stand in court that he couldn't use the sale value of property in his assessing in Appleton because it was impossible to treat all taxpayers equally. He showed how two pieces of property side by side may vary considerably in price because one may be designed more modernly than the other. The older place could not be assessed the same as the new one and vice versa. One assessment therefore must be brought up and the other cut down and an equalization made. The same should be true in county assessing, the assessor pointed out. He said if more commercial and manufacturing deals had been made in Appleton last year, a different set of values would have arisen.

Some downtown examples were used by Mr. Rule to show the fallacy of sale values. N. C. Schommer and A. L. Kiss bought stores side by side for $16,000 each, he remarked. Mr. Schommer later sold his building for about $35,000. Mr. Kiss still holds his building and its value is $16,000 because that is what he paid for it. It would not be fair, said Mr. Rule, to assess Mr. Kiss $35,000 when he could prove his place cost $16,000. An equalization of the two places therefore is necessary.

The M. C. Hyde jewelry store corner also was referred to. This property was bought by Mr. Hyde for $41,000, representing 21 feet frontage on College-ave. Saecker-Diderich Co., its next door neighbor, bought its building with 42 feet on College-ave and 42 feet on Oneida-st for about $50,000. There again equalization is necessary because one could not justly be charged on the basis of what the other paid.

What seemed like inconsistencies in assessing of the county were pointed out by Mr. Rule. He said Kaukauna was valued at $8,000,000 by Mr. Toonen and Kimberly at $5,000,000. It could hardly seem right to say Kimberly was worth more than half what the city of Kaukauna is, he remarked. He said townships like Liberty, Maine, Maple Creek, Ellington and a few others had been given increased assessments and these should have been cut. Dale was increased and Greenville cut, which also should not be.

"Why raise farm lands when everybody knows they are dropping?" argued Mr. Rule. "If this report is right, then those of the last ten years are wrong. If this system of sales values won't work when applied to the townships then why use it at all? The state itself knows the idea is wrong and would be glad to have some other in its place. Then why penalize Appleton with something that works an injustice like adding $14,000,000 to an assessment at one whack."

PRUSSIAN WOMEN ARE FORGETFUL IN DIET

Berlin (AP)—Female members of the Prussian diet it would seem, are far ahead of their male colleagues in point of forgetfulness and losses. A large blackboard, representing the diet's lost and found office, bears testimony to the preoccupation of the body parliamentarians. Feminine bags of every description are here reported as found. They have ceased to be a problem, however, for in the course of time the personnel of the house has become so well drilled that they are now able to designate the owner of almost every bag at first sight. Four pairs of women's gloves are not quite so easy to restore, any more than the string of pearls, a gold brooch, a ring, numerous handkerchiefs and a Chinese shawl. A silver drinking cup has for several days proved a source of much conjecture among the male female parliamentarians.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN FOR RED CROSS

House to House Canvass for Members Will Be Started on Nov. 15

Menasha—Plans for the annual roll call of Menasha Chapter of the American Red Cross will be completed at a meeting of workers at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. J. Robertson on Broadway. The number of teams to be engaged in the canvass which is to be made from house to house will then be determined.

The roll call will open Nov. 15 and will extend throughout the greater part of the following week. It is planned to make the drive for members an intensive one and complete the work as soon as possible. Miss Mabel Gier was selected as chairman at a recent meeting of officers.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

A Tough Situation

"My wife and four children were dependent on me for their living. My stomach and liver trouble of five years had made me dependent, as no medicine seemed to help me, and I was gradually wasting away. It was a tough situation. My cousin in Columbus wrote me about having taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and advised me to try it. I am now feeling better than for fifteen years." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists. adv.

A Successful Life Insurance Agent

The life insurance business has become one of the country's largest business enterprises and affords an outlet of goods within reach of every person with earning power. It is more or less proportionate. One of the most successful salesmen in the community has been E. W. Brown, of this community, district superintendent for the Bankers' Life Company of Two Dunes, La. He has written many policies and many have been and has been a sales to such a degree that he has been awarded medals and cups for his work. Speaking of his work Mr. Brown says:

"In the economy of human affairs there is a place for every one of us. The question is, have we found ours? Bringing the service afforded by insurance companies to those in need thereof is particularly the province of the life insurance salesman.

"No profession takes a higher place in the affairs of today than does insurance salesmanship because it deals most intimately with the necessity of mankind. While it is true that life insurance is not a commodity like bread and meat, which are absolute necessities and can be handled and seen by the purchaser, it is nevertheless a thing which under our social system may well be considered a necessity. The great purpose of Life Insurance is the preservation of the home. Whenever a policy of insurance is correctly sold you have served some human interest and supplied some human need. This should be your incentive to action. You produce, you keep families intact, and promote a better and higher citizenship. The pecuniary value, however, of any life is the earning capacity, and to make such earnings effective after death is the purpose of life insurance. This is its field of greater usefulness and in this realm Life Insurance knows no successful competitor. Our work is Co-Operative, our competition is only in issuing the best life insurance contract possible for the least money. adv.

CLEVELAND IS PLEASED WITH CITY MANAGER

Reelection of Majority of Councilmen Indicates How People Feel About System

Milwaukee—The result of the second election in Cleveland under the city manager form of government indicates, in my opinion, that the people are completely satisfied with the system and with its results during the first two years," said A. R. Hatton, Cleveland, who was in Milwaukee to give a series of talks on the city manager plan.

Mr. Hatton is recognized nationally as an authority on this new form of municipal government. He has taken part in writing nearly all the city manager charters that have been adopted by the larger cities. He has also served two years as councilman in Cleveland under the city manager plan and at the election held there last week was reelected for another two-year term, being the leader of the independent forces on the council.

ALL BUT THREE RE-ELECTED
Of the 25 members of the Cleveland council all but three were re-elected, undoubtedly because of the general feeling that the new plan was working all right and should be left in the same hands," continued Mr. Hatton. "It is generally recognized that Cleveland under the city manager plan has been given the best government in its history and the election result indicates that the people want things to continue as they have been."

"In the election the Republican party made a strong campaign, but was unable to increase its strength, leaving the political complexion of the council the same. The four independents were all re-elected. "The vote was slightly less than two years ago, this being also due, I believe to the feeling that things were going all right and there was no need for any change."

"Cincinnati held its first election under the city manager plan last week and not only got out a much heavier vote than Cleveland but elected seven of its nine councilmen from the candidates who stood for the city manager plan. A majority of the councilmen will be supporters of the new form of government and men of high ability, which will help make it a success."

WEAKNESS OF MAYOR PLAN
Mr. Hatton addressed a joint meeting of the Milwaukee Real Estate board and Civitan club Tuesday noon at the St. Charles hotel. He pointed out the weakness of the mayor-council form of government, principally its lack of a definite head, inability to hold anybody responsible, and general lack of coordination of power and duties.

"Our municipal governments have reached a stage of development which requires that they be directed by professionally trained men," said Mr. Hatton. "These men are employed not as bosses, but to do the things the people want done. We no longer expect that ordinary men without special training, no matter how well intentioned they may be, can do efficiently the things required of a municipal government."

"Efficient execution of municipal activities is an essential part of democracy as living policies or dealing with what should be done."

STUDY TIME TABLES TO PREVENT RAIL ACCIDENTS

Grade school children of Appleton will be trained to killed railroad accidents in this city if word of local educators and teachers can prevent it. Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, distributed a rubric time tables of every road entering Appleton to grade school principals at the regular meeting Wednesday morning. The principals were instructed to give one to each of their teachers. The teachers will study the schedules and drill their pupils on the hours that trains will be in the city. Each child will be instructed to take unusual care in crossing car tracks at these times.

Several matters of minor importance were discussed at the meeting. Practically every grade school principal of the city was present.

MAKE STUDY OF SCHOOL METHODS

Compare Time Spent on Each Study Here With Work in Other Cities

How Appleton compares with other cities of Wisconsin and the larger educational centers of the United States in the amount of time devoted to each study in each grade is being studied by local grade school teachers and members of the city superintendent's office. Superintendent B. J. Rohan sent a questionnaire to each grade school teacher of the city on which are the names of the subjects taught and a column for the amount of time devoted each week to each subject in the first grade, second grade and so on up to the sixth grade. When this is tabulated, the average will represent the amount of time given each subject in each grade here. Then the responses from other cities will show what they are doing and a comparison for betterment of Appleton's system can be made.

The cities to which questionnaires have been sent by Mr. Rohan and his staff are Cleveland, Indianapolis, St. Louis, St. Paul, Rochester, Toledo, Cedar Falls, normal school, Columbia University teachers school of New York city, Rockford, Winnetka, Ill.; Minneapolis, St. Cloud, Milwaukee, Milwaukee Normal school, Jackson, Mich., and to all cities over 5,000 population in Wisconsin.

Responses have already been received from Columbia University, Milwaukee, La Crosse, Kenosha, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Racine, Neenah, Green Bay, Indianapolis, the department of the interior at Washington, D. C., West Allis, Ashland, Stevens Point, Rochester, Wisconsin Rapids and Jackson, Mich.

Half the world is half asleep

It is terrible to feel all day long as if you were in a constant state of weariness. Yet thousands do, because constipation is destroying their energy—even their interest in life. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Poor Betty! She always looks tired"

BETTY was the office mystery. Once pretty, her beauty now lay masked behind an unwholesome complexion. Once vivacious, she now seemed eternally tired—a drooping figure of disappointment and dismay. Too bad she didn't realize that it was constipation which was stealing her strength.

But many men and women rid themselves forever of this devastating disease, by the simple, pleasant means of eating two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a bulk food which sweeps the intestine clean—a bulk food which absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating natural, healthy action. Something habit-forming pills and drugs can never do.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruit, baked apple, etc.

Caution: Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can only be partially effective. Kellogg's is the one, only and original ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Served in leading restaurants and hotels.

More Bakings per Sack
You can get MORE, as well as better bread, biscuits, cake or pie crust from a sack of flour if the flour is EXTRA-rich in gluten. Such flour absorbs more water and requires less flour per baking. Wheat used to make flour EXTRA-rich in gluten is so expensive that few mills use it, but BIG JO has been made of this high grade, selected, strong, hard spring wheat for 40 years. BIG JO is an economical flour, for it "goes further." If you want the best bakings from BIG JO, scant your flour. Try a sack of BIG JO today and see how much longer you save on each baking.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

My Dear John: I have been much annoyed and chagrined by seeing so much about your affairs in the papers of late. It seems to me that I do not pick up a paper without seeing Leslie's name. Until now it has always been considered a disgrace to see the names of any of the ladies of the Prescott family bandied about in a newspaper.

You know I am an old-fashioned woman, John, and I do not care for notoriety of any kind. In my telegram to you last week I intimated that it would be a good thing if Leslie said those words and I am advising you now that, if by any possibility she can get them back, you sell them. Five hundred thousand dollars, my son, is more money than any of us ever had as far back as our history goes, and to think that your wife has that much money tied up in a bundle to wear around her neck is a sin.

So that Eltington girl is dead. It was a good thing. There was always bad blood in that family. Mrs. Turke couldn't live with the twins and why she should take the sister into her house and pass her off on you is more than I can solve. She probably found she could not keep her herself.

There was a very romantic story in the papers to the effect that Miss Eltington died because she would not tell where Leslie's pearls were. I hardly think she can be true, since you have not found them. If that were true she would have managed to tell you where they are. My opinion is that the man who got away has the jewels and I thought so even before the police gave it as their verdict.

I don't think I shall come to you just now. I find it very pleasant here. My rooms are comfortable. I have become used to Miss Anderson and she does not worry me. Mr. Orson Gibson, whom you met in Albany takes me to church and concerts and other entertainments which I consider respectable and appropriate for a lady of my years and position.

I need some new clothes. Perhaps you had better send Miss Anderson a check and let her go into New York to do some shopping. Mr. Gibson is going down next week. I think perhaps $500 will do.

Now, son, all that I can say is, that as soon as you have gotten out of this mess, tell Leslie not to get you into another.

As soon as things settle down again, I will come over and see the new house. But you know young children always worry me a good deal.

Sincerely your mother,
MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT.

TOMORROW—Letter from Ruth Burke to Leslie Prescott.

Adventures Of The Twins

OFF TO DADDY LAND

Juggle Jump and the Twins counted the buttons they had found.

"There are three more somewhere," said Juggle Jump, "but we must find them as soon as possible."

"Where have you looked?" asked the Man-in-the-Moon.

"The Twins counted up on their fingers."

"We've looked in Sunnyside Land and Yum Yum Land and Loo Land, and all sorts of places," said Nick.

"Have you looked in Daddy Gander Land yet?" asked the Man-in-the-Moon.

Juggle Jump looked at the Twins and they looked at Juggle Jump.

"Why, we never thought of that," they exclaimed.

So bidding goodbye to the Man-in-the-Moon and the Dream Maker Man, and his three sons, Snoozle and Snore and Snore-Juggle Jump, they stepped one of their magic buttons and the three travelers stepped from the moon down to the earth, where they immediately set out for Daddy Gander and as fast as they could go.

They went along Brown Street up to they came to Pippin Hill. Then the large pumpkin-shell house of Peter and his wife. To Peter's had recently moved from their small pumpkin-shell house into a cottage. The large pumpkin-shell house into a cottage.

It too, looked like a pumpkin, but it was made of real boards and had rooms and floors and closets and all. And Mrs. Peter had learned to be a very good housekeeper indeed. The porch and door-mat were spotless and the knocker was as light as a new penny.

Nancy lifted the knocker and let it drop twice.

"Come in!" called a cheery voice.

So Nick opened the door and in went the Twins, followed by Juggle Jump.

Mrs. Peter was spinning, but got up when she saw them and held out her hand hospitably.

"How do you do, Nancy and Nick," said she. "You certainly are a sight for sore eyes! What errand brings you this time?"

The Twins introduced Juggle Jump and then explained that they were hunting for Puff's buttons.

"Puff!" exclaimed Mrs. Peter. "And who is Puff?"

"He is the Fairy Queen's cock," said Nancy. "And he is so fat that every time he sneezes, he loses a button. At last his coat would not stay fastened at all! So we are looking all over the world for his buttons. We have been to the sky and back. We thought some of the buttons may have come as far as Daddy Gander Land."

"I'll help you gladly if you will help me," said Mrs. Peter sadly. "I'm in a lot of trouble."

"What do you want us to do?" "Sit down and I will tell you," said Mrs. Peter.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused many times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to more serious complications by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with poison or artificial stimulants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instantly neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bismarck Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bismarck Magnesia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might, and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bismarck Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

Go to the drug store and get a box of Bismarck Magnesia. It is the best thing you can get for your acid stomach.

With "Pit" Purdy, star backfielder of the Midwest conference practically ready to start at quarterback for Beloit college here on Saturday, Coach Mark Catlin's Blue gridders will enter their hardest battle for the year underdogs in every way. Purdy was protected by Lawrence for having played pro football with the Omaha Olympics, acknowledged by Omaha sport followers and experts to be a pro team, but Mills still insists that the Olympics was an amateur squad. Therefore, Purdy probably will play with the same under protest in the league.

Reserve seats for the big Lawrence-Beloit grid game here Saturday are going fast but many good places still can be secured by applying at Basing's Sport shop on the college gymnasium. The Lawrence reserve section is on the north bleachers and Beloit will have 500 seats marked off on the south side of the field. All L men, both past and present are urged to sign up for their permanent admission tickets as soon as possible.

standings. Tommy Mills is taking the only possible step, as with the midge riot in the lineup he has a fine chance of heating the Blues while if he would not be played and the Blue protest were admitted two other Beloit battles, those with Coe and Ripon would have to be thrown out. This would leave Beloit with only two conference games, Knox and Lawrence, not enough to claim the title in a race where three battles must be played. Therefore, Mills is losing nothing by playing Purdy while he is taking a chance for a lucky ruling to save his title.

With Purdy will be several stars of the first water moulded into a squad which works in great style. Capt. Bud Butler at end is one of the best in the conference. His veteran experience helps him play a cool hard game at all times. In Bernard "Boob" Darling, the Gold has a center who starred at two colleges. At Ripon two years ago Boob was half of the Red line.

HAVE STRONG BACKFIELD

Stan Kuick, 200-pound guard of three years, is at fullback. Stan is a 10 second man and with his huge bulk crashes the line in great style. Bob Grady a half is the next thing in the rear outside of Purdy. His side-stepping is good and he is another sprinter from the track squad. He is from the same town as Mac McAuliffe former old quarterback, who caused the Blues trouble for years. O'Connor and Vandolah complete a fine rear wall. Purdy undoubtedly will be the keystone of the Gold offense with his passing, kicking and running as features. The boy is a wonderful passer and dropkicker and his punts usually average 50-60 yards. Add to this ability to run an open field with the best and you have the Beloit star.

BLUE HARD SCRAPER

A Mills coached team has never licked one coached by Mark Catlin present Blue mentor. In some 18 years of strife, and with this big opportunity in view the Millsmen will try to pile up a record score. Catlin's boys will fight to defend his record. Lawrence will place the same crew on the field which has been scored on via the touchdown route in only two conference games, both of which were lost. Coe got a break for its marker and Carleton took advantage of a snowy field for its score. This valiant crew which has done such valiant work in defending the Blue goal in spite of bad breaks and injuries may give Beloit a real rub. A few years ago a Beloit team, doped to win with just as much certainty as this year's crew, came to Appleton and put the game on ice in the first periods only to have Mark uncoil his bag of tricks for which he is justly noted, and pull out with the game in the last quarter. It was the biggest surprise the Blues would not be surprised at a duplication this year from the efforts of Mark's wise old head.

With the loss of Zussman, the Blues will be crippled somewhat, but Hipke and Ashman injured at Carroll, probably will start. Briese, Ray Boettcher and Nason will work at the rear wall posts with Bloomer and Heidemann calling signals. In the line Hipke will

AMATEUR GRID LOOP FORMED AT FONDY MEETING

Kaukauna, Menasha May Enter Squads in 1926 Eastern Wisconsin Football League

Representatives of independent gridiron squads in seven cities of this part of the state will meet at a banquet and business session at 7:30 Monday evening at the Hotel Calumet at Fond du Lac to lay plans for the organization of an amateur grid loop for the 1926 season. The circuit is to be called the Eastern Wisconsin League and delegates are expected at the meeting from Kaukauna, Kaukauna, Manitowoc, Fond du Lac, Two Rivers, Oshkosh and Sheboygan.

E. P. Rennie, manager of the American Legion squad, state amateur champs for five years, and two others will represent Kaukauna; R. C. Miller, city playground director and two others will represent Menasha; Manitowoc will send two delegates, Sheboygan three, and Two Rivers and Oshkosh each one. J. E. O'Brien, Clark Campbell and Herman Saunders will handle Fondy's part of the program. Saunders, well known as a player on the Fondy Eastern Wisconsin loop diamond team and state loop teams of past years, is one of the organizers of the idea. Dynamite, as he is called, is prominent in all Fond du Lac sports. Campbell, another organizer of the loop, was a member of the University of Washington grid squad under Earl Dolie and has played pro ball for years in Michigan. He now is connected with the editorial staff of the Fond du Lac Commonwealth. There are no professional promoters behind the idea.

It is proposed to have a six-team loop, each crew playing a fixed schedule of five home and five road games. A group insurance policy probably will be placed on the players of all teams. Teams will be scored in the standings as follows: Win—2 points; tie—1 point. Total number of points to count at end of schedule. In case of two or more teams having same number of points at end of playing season, arrangements will be made by the league to break any tie that might exist.

It is proposed that each club post a guarantee of $100 with the secretary-treasurer of the league as a guarantee that it will finish its schedule. It is proposed that each team shall pay its own traveling expenses on road games and that each club shall be entitled to all its own game receipts home team to pay all necessary expenses of officials, etc.

It is proposed to have high school officials handle the games, or other officials, to be appointed by the league president, the sum of $12 being payment for referee, $5 for umpire and $3 for head linesman at all games. A sum equal to 10 per cent of the gross receipts of each game will be forwarded to the secretary-treasurer of the league within 48 hours after each game played, this sum to be held in trust by the league and used only as necessary, the league assuming the responsibility of protecting any players or players injured on any of the teams in the circuit. The unexpended balance of monies received from this percentage of games will be returned in equal amounts to clubs at the end of the season.

It is proposed to have each club agree that all disputes over any matter pertaining to games, teams or conduct of clubs be considered by the league in regular session and that the decision of this executive be final in all cases. Any team not complying with the orders of decisions of the executive of the league are subject to fine or suspension. The president has the right, with the consent of the executive, to suspend any player, if grounds are found for the good of the team.

It is further proposed that each club keep a set of books, showing all expenditures and receipts, and that these books be submitted to the league after the termination of the playing season. An entry fee of $5 will be posted by all teams on application for franchise.

PAPERMAKERS TOP NET LOOP BY THREE WINS

Dud's Papermakers pushed Briggs' Penpushers from the top rung of the Kimberly Volleyball loop this week when they wallowed Curries Giants for three straight wins. The feature of the one-sided victories was the passing of the losing Giant squad. The last match of the same evening's play was hotly contested but Mathies' Cubs finally squeezed out a two out of three win from the Wydevan's Footmen to tie that crew for fifth place in the standings. The eight squads battle each week to determine the net title of Kimberly.

WEDNESDAY GAME
 Marinette 28 Menominee, Mich., 0.

SATURDAY GAMES
 APPLETON AT OSHKOSH
 Fond du Lac at West Green Bay.
 Sheboygan at East Green Bay.

With practically the only chance of keeping out of the cellar in the valley conference grid race for 1925 staring them in the face, Coach Mac McAuliffe's reorganized gridmen will go into the Oshkosh battle to fight it out to the final whistle. They will meet another fighting crew which has yet to win a game, on its home grounds. Oshkosh has shown considerable improvement in the last few weeks and is favored to win. Starting out with a 5-10 whipping by the valley champs, East Green Bay, a team which beat Appleton 34-0, the Sawdust city men fought Fondy off its feet to lose by a tough break, 7-6. Last week the strong West Green Bay crew barely squeezed out a 21-14 win. While Appleton has failed to score a touchdown this year, Oshkosh has added three in the last two battles. Appleton will play a defensive game Saturday. The battle is next in importance to the Oshkosh-Fondy age-old rivalry to the Sawdust city boys and has been designated as the O. H. S. Homecoming game.

ASHMAN MAY BE OUT

Ashman, varsity guard, is afflicted with a bad case of boils and may not be able to start. He cannot play Krabbe, a green man probably will replace him, with Packard in reserve. The remainder of the lineup will be uncertain with the likely players at each job being Pfefferle and Laird or Wolfgram ends; Voelckers and Steenis; tackles; Lethen and Ashman or Krabbe; each job being Pfefferle and Laird or Wolfgram ends; Voelckers and Steenis; tackles; Lethen and Ashman or Krabbe; each job being Pfefferle and Laird or Wolfgram ends; Voelckers and Steenis; tackles; Lethen and Ashman or Krabbe.

Records show that Oshkosh has not whipped Appleton since 1916, though no games were played from that date until 1921 and with this in mind the Sawdusters are out to break the recent loss streak before the homecoming crowd in what appears to be the best chance.

In 1921 the teams battled to a 0-0 tie at Oshkosh; in 1922 the Orange copped 65-6 here; in 1923 a 9-6 win went to Appleton at Oshkosh on Wheeler's place kick and the locals though outplayed won 13-0 here last year. Before 1916 Oshkosh had copped six wins in four years and two were ties. The records credit Oshkosh with six wins to Appleton's four with six ties 16 years of play.

Oshkosh with Eber Simpson and Arlie Mucks, two men who later became among the greatest stars of the country at the University of Wisconsin, in the lineup, gave Appleton its worst trouncing in 1916 piling up a 10-0 score. This game gives the Sawdust city schoolers a big edge in the scoring total to date. After 1916, four years went by without a battle between the two schools. Here's the record:

1906—Appleton 0, Oshkosh 0.
 1907—No game.
 1908—Appleton 12, Oshkosh 0.
 1909—No game.
 1910—Appleton 6, Oshkosh 6.
 1911—Appleton 0, Oshkosh 40.
 1912—Appleton 6, Oshkosh 6.
 1913—No game.
 1914—Appleton 3, Oshkosh 17.
 1915—Appleton 12, Oshkosh 15.
 1916—Appleton 6, Oshkosh 19.
 1917—Appleton 0, Oshkosh 22.
 1918—Appleton 0, Oshkosh 0.
 1919—Appleton 0, Oshkosh 108.
 1920—No game.
 1921—Appleton 0, Oshkosh 0.
 1922—Appleton 65, Oshkosh 6.
 1923—Appleton 9, Oshkosh 6.
 1924—Appleton 13, Oshkosh 0.
 1925—Appleton ? Oshkosh ?

Some more advance dope reads as follows: Appleton has not scored a touchdown yet this season, whereas the Oshkosh aggregation has been crossing the goal line with consistent regularity in the last two games played. Oshkosh has not won a conference game this season and, for that matter, neither has Appleton, but Appleton has managed to tie a conference opponent during the season. This is a trick that Oshkosh has not accomplished or bettered.

The Appleton team has held the total aggregate of opponents' points to a smaller total than the Oshkosh team has been able to do through kosh were beaten by West Green the season. Both Appleton and Oshkosh. The College City team lost 3 to 0 and the locals were defeated 21 to 14.

Both principals in the encounter here next Saturday have played the East Green Bay squad. Oshkosh bowed to a 51 to 0 score, whereas Appleton left the field with the small end of a 33 to 0 score.

In the percentage column, both teams rank the same as Appleton's

BLUE HARRIERS MEET ILLINOIS COLLEGE SQUAD

Crack Lake Forest Crew Subs for Marquette on Morning of Beloit Grid Battle

Lawrence college's crack 1925 cross country squad will get a real chance to test its metal at 10 o'clock Saturday morning as a preliminary to the Lawrence-Beloit football game when one of the strongest collegiate crews of the midwest invades Appleton for a distance battle. The Marquette meet once postponed, was again postponed until later in the fall, and quick work by Coach A. C. Denny brought a response from Lake Forest college, at Lake Forest, Ill. Marquette postponed its meet a week ago because of the Cream City school's homecoming day and found that it was unable to take this Saturday's date as had been planned.

Lake Forest has a crack squad of vets and already has taken part in a number of big meets. The Illinois collegians made a great showing recently in a three-cornered meet with De Paul and Northwestern University. A Big Ten conference squad and last week awarded another Illinois college by a big margin. Against this crew Denny will place Eddie Marcombe, frosh sensation, who has won every race he has taken part in since enrolling here except the battle with Brooks of Northwestern college, Illinois mile and two-mile champ, Captain Purvis, Locklin and Kingsbury, vets of last year. This quartet has been working hard of late and should make the Forest boys step to win if they do not beat them. All are real distance men and form as good a squad as ever had run for the local institution.

K-C CAGERS OPEN WORK FOR SEASON

2 Stars of Second-place Badger Amateur Squad of Last Year Lost; 15 Men Out

With 15 men practicing daily at the Paper Co. will attempt to keep up the same brand of basketball this season as last year when the Paper team went through a great season and topped it off by copping second place in the state amateur meet at Racine. Though Louis Loose, the coach and his star the squad is gone this year. L. O. "Cooey" Cooke, new physical director, has the nucleus of a nice squad. The former Blue star played on the team last year and probably will do so again this season.

With Loose, Milt "Deadhorse" Scheurle, former Appleton high player, is missing, he having taken his studies at Oshkosh Normal school. Last year's players who will form a nucleus this year are Cooke, Pete Kohl, former Orange star, Klundt, Boettcher and Clark of last year's squad. Several members of the crack Kimberly Independents and Holy Name squad of the last few years also are in suits. Some of these boys acted as subs last year and went good when they were given a chance in a game. The first battle is against Grimsom on Dec. 1 at the Kimberly clubhouse.

PRINTERS WIN 1ST INDOOR GAME, 11-10

Appleton's "indoor" indoor baseball season was initiated Wednesday evening with one of the closest battles one tie game, even though a very creditable showing, 12 not sufficient to boost the per cent away from the three goose eggs.

The two other conference battles are struggles of importance with the two loop leaders meeting the two nearest contenders with chances for an upset all around. Fondy losing its first battle to Sheboygan last week, is given a good chance of upsetting West Green Bay, not considered as strong as East high. The teams seem to be about evenly matched with either team able to cop. A win for Fondy would give that crew at least a tie for second place this year and probably would put West out of the running. East is a slight favorite to beat Sheboygan, but here again the dope may be upset. Sheboygan upset a lot of dope by beating Fondy, 14-0 last week and the week before had Marinette 3-0 until the final seconds of play when the Johnson fight-ers showed the stuff which has kept them near the top for years, to win 7-3. West high beat Appleton 3-0 at the Bay and Fondy was held to a tie here, 3-3.

BLUE FROSH MEET NORMAL SECONDS

Schools Resume Rivalry in Battle Between Secondary Squads Here Saturday Morning

Slight favorites on paper by a comparison of early-season records, Coach Swede Olsson's Lawrence college gridmen will attempt to give the Oshkosh Normal seconds a neat trimming when the two squads battle at Whiting field Saturday morning. The old rivalry between Lawrence and Oshkosh is expected to crop up again and the Greens will fight for every point. Similarly, the Teacher crew will play over its head to beat any squad representing the local college and a great game is in prospect, probably the best frosh game here this year. The Olssonmen whipped St. Johns Military Academy in the first game of the season and the Soldiers, with half a team in the hospital from the battle with the local collegians, cleaned the Normalites ever fought on the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium diamond when the Meyer Press Co. crew squeezed out a 11-10 extra-inning battle from a combined team of laywers and bankers and investment men. The battle was to go seven innings but the hard playing of the two squads prolonged it for an extra session. Colvin and Weber formed the Meyer Press battery, while Roy Schultz and Heber Pelkey played the strong points for the losers.

Neither the Bankers or Lawyers had a full squad around Wednesday night, but both will have complete teams by next week. With only one more team necessary, though more will be accommodated, an organization meeting for Appleton's first real indoor ball loop will be called early next week by A. P. Jensen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. It is planned to start the loop season Wednesday evening if possible.

The program is to start at 7:15 and will be featured by a series of tableaux prepared by various troops of the three cities under the direction of Miss Bette Marshall. Miss Martha Chandler of the woman's club, Mrs. L. C. Sleeper, Miss Isabelle Milhaup and representatives of Neenah and Menasha will give talks on scouting. CHARTER BUSES TO TAKE
FANS TO FOOTBALL GAME

Students and faculty members of Appleton high school who desire to attend the Appleton-Oshkosh football game at Oshkosh Saturday afternoon will be able to make the trip in fine style through the cooperation of the H.V. club. The club has chartered a large bus to make the trip, leaving the local school at 1:45 Saturday afternoon and returning after the game. Many local students are signing up on the high school bulletin board and several more are expected by Saturday noon.

COUNCIL WILL MEET
WITH CITY PARK BOARD

Desiring to reach some agreement concerning park improvements and maintenance for the year 1926, the common council and the city park board will hold an informal conference Friday evening. It is probable that the amount to be included in the budget for next year will be agreed upon. The park board desired to spend about $20,000 this fall to improve Pierce park and planned to issue bonds enough to take care of this project. It was found that this was not possible under the law, however, so the work was abandoned until some means could be found to obtain finances. The two bodies believe they can work out a satisfactory solution in keeping with the tax situation here.
